JAILED FOR FIGHTING CORRUPTION

LIU PING CHINA

Human rights campaigner Liu Ping was sentenced to six-and-a-half years in prison in 2014, after organizing an event which called on the Chinese government to step up its fight against corruption. She is one of many in China persecuted for their links with the New Citizens' Movement, a loose network of human rights activists.

Please write to the Chinese President today, demanding that he release her immediately.
